The Best Drawing and Painting Training School in San Francisco

9-SUMMER ART CLASSES - AFTERNOONS AND WEEKENDS

Classes from June 4 to August 4, 2019

We will have 9 summer weekend drawing and painting classes. They will run from June 4 to August 4, 2019. Since many families want their students to keep taking art classes during the summer, we will keep the current class levels and schedules for their summer registration.

The curriculum for beginners this summer will be step-by-step lessons in how to draw cartoons, animals and more according to the theme of the week. English will be the principal language of instruction. Mandarin will be used according to students' needs.

This summer the intermediate students will work on something old and something new. They will refine their basic rendering skills of perspective, and light and shadow. They will also develop their own comic art style. Refining basics often means "troubleshooting". This means that the students will face their own particular drawing or painting problems with such tasks as drawing eyes, noses and hands from different angles, using cold and warm colors, drawing buildings with perspective, or painting water, or wrinkles, or certain textures.

The advanced students will learn drawing and painting methods from European and Chinese master artists. They may have drawing or painting in the studio or outdoors depending on the available light outdoors at the time of their class. They may also work on their individual creative projects and built up their own portfolios.

We will test the skill levels of our new students, and build a course for them based on our assessments.

The tuition for the summer is the same as the current tuition.

Let your child take on an artistic challenge. Sign your child up for any number of classes that fit your schedule.
